

get outside

Equipment Guide

“Adventure is not outside man, it is within” – David Grayson

▲ Women's Dozer river shoe provides secure protection with ventilation of a sandal, by Teva, $60.

Sea to Summit pocket towel, 24 x 36 inches, of microfiber, can be used, wrung out and immediately re-used, neoprene container attaches to belt, $23.

▲ Six gallon camp sink of vinyl coated nylon has rigid upper rim to retain shape, by Seattle Outdoor Gear, $22.

▼ Neoprene rubber river bootie, keeps wet feet warm like a wet-suit, by Chota, $40.

Flexible waterproof container for small electronic items uses Zip-Lock closure, by HydroPadZ, $20. ▶

▲ Nordkapp replacement blades for touring kayak paddles in carbon fiber for light weight, part of a system that allows blades to be replaced in the field, by Lendal, $310.

◀ Smart Cast RF30 wireless fish finder/depth sounder is cast like a lure and reeled in, reads bottom contours and fish in the area to a remote wrist-mounted sensor, by Hummingbird, $99.

▲ Bilge Pump is an essential safety tool for touring kayaks, by Carlisle, $19.

◀ Lee Whitewater Helmet, one size fits all with pads, by Predator of Blaine, Wa. $90.